MASSACHUSETTS STATE COLLEGE
AMHERST, MASSACHUSETTS

Foreword

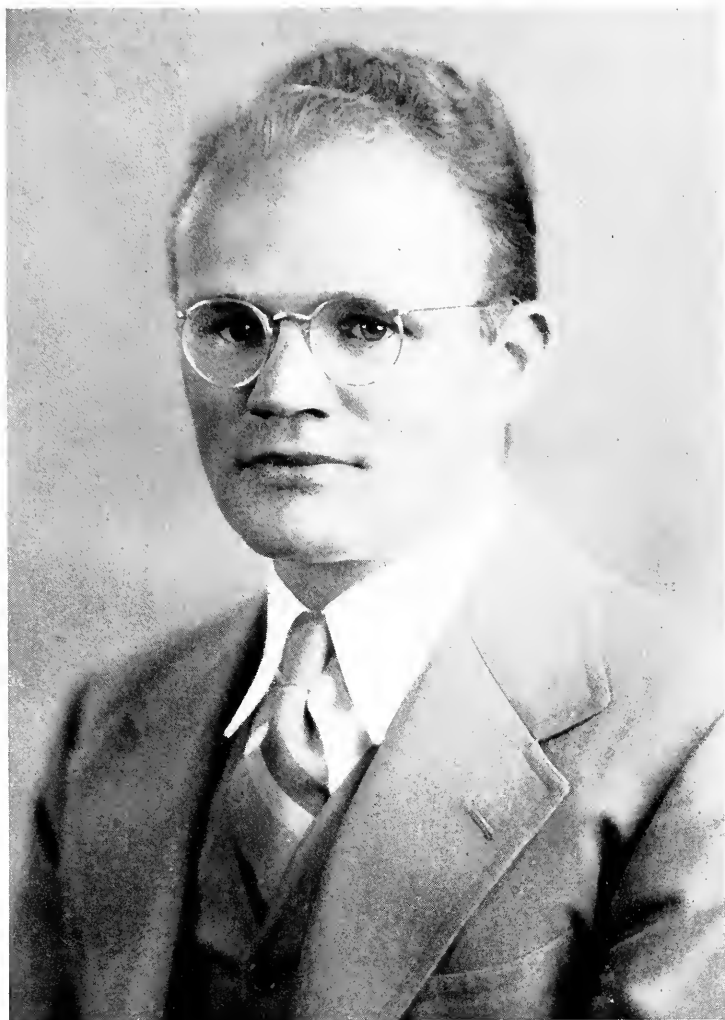

The INDEX, as historian of this threshold year between wartime and peace, reflects a spirit of reminiscence and vision. As veterans return, we recall campus as it was once before the war; we look ahead to plan and work toward its future as University.

FREDERICK CHARLES ELLERT

IN DEDICATING the INDEX to Professor Frederick C. Ellert, the Class of 1946 honors one of the most respected and popular members of our faculty. It seems especially fitting that he should be honored at this time, for the current academic year marks his twentieth year of association with our College. In his undergraduate years, Fred Ellert distinguished himself as a student and athlete; as a member of the faculty he has been no less distinguished as a teacher and coach.

In the classroom Professor Ellert manages to combine high seriousness of purpose with originality and liveliness of presentation. For it is one of his deepest convictions that education can be serious without being solemn—and many generations of State students will testify that the atmosphere in his classes is anything but solemn! He holds no less firmly to the view that language is a mere instrument, not an end in itself, and that the teacher of languages must at the earliest opportunity open his students to the literature, science, and philosophy which language records. Many students at State have come to regard his course in the German Classical period as one of the most valuable in their educational experience. German thought and feeling come alive in his lectures, and his penetrating and ironic comments on the irrationalities of romanticism have become campus classics.

Students at Massachusetts State have expressed their admiration and affection for Professor Ellert in many ways through the years, and this dedication is but one further tribute to a kind and understanding and gifted teacher.

We dedicate this Book

GREETINGS:

Through the war years it was very much in place to emphasize to students and alumni of Massachusetts State College the contributions of the College to the winning of the war. While nearly 3,000 members of our college family were serving in the armed forces, the College was doing its utmost to serve the state and the union in the fields of agriculture and industry. The record is good.

The transition to peace has brought many problems to the College, among them a rapidly increasing student population resulting from the return of a large number of veterans to the Campus and an increasing number of civilian students.

We have accepted around 1,000 veterans for the fall of 1946 and there is every evidence that, if we can accept larger numbers, our student enrollment will exceed 2,500 in the fall of 1947.

To meet the problem we are assured temporary housing from the Federal Housing Authority, and the Alumni Building Corporation is going forward aggressively with plans for two new dormitories for men which it hopes and expects will be ready this fall.

We are keenly appreciative of the help given us by students, alumni, trustees and friends of the College throughout the state. It makes possible the facing of the future with reasonable optimism.

Alumni War Memorial

By GEORGE E. EMERY
(Executive Alumni Secretary)

The War Memorial at Massachusetts State College is to be a student union building.

Formal announcement of the plans were made in Boston on April 27, at a meeting of Alumni and friends of the College. James T. Nicholson, class of 1916, vice-president of the American Red Cross, was the principal speaker.

Some 2200 alumni and undergraduates of the College, men and women, served in their country's uniform during World War II. More than seventy gave their lives.

The present Memorial Hall, erected by Alumni following World War I, was effective and adequate for many years as a student union or student social center. Now it is planned that the facilities of Memorial Hall be expanded so that the building may continue to serve the use for which it was originally intended, and so that the memorials for both World Wars I and II may be combined.

Professor James Robertson, Jr., of the Landscape Architecture Department, has made preliminary sketches which will enhance the interest and attractiveness of Memorial Hall.

In the Memorial Building will be a dance hall, facilities for the College Store, headquarters for the Alumni and extracurricular activities.

Professor Robertson has said, "We have considered the present building, not as a complete whole, but as an element, an integral part of a new and larger structure where there is no 'addition' but rather a unification of aims and ideals into a more suitable and finer structure than now exists.

"In keeping with this joining together, it seems entirely fitting that a memorial room in some key position should make such a union possible. Such a room can be placed in a tower let into the corner between the two arms of the new building.

"This tower room will take the place of the present memorial room. It will become the memorial room for both wars, and will fittingly be in its elevated position an impressive shrine and sanctuary."

Adelphia

Adelphia, local honor society for senior men, was founded in 1916. Its function is to "promote good fellowship and foster the highest ideals of Massachusetts State" by an active support of campus activities. They sponsor rallies and special drives and cooperate with Isogon and the Senate on campus projects.

Seven juniors are tapped as active members at a spring convocation, and eight honorary members are elected in the spring of their senior year. Selection of members is based on popularity, extra-curriculum activities, and character. Besides the undergraduate members, one alumnus and one faculty member may be elected each year. The society has at present a total membership of 369.

When, in 1943, all seven active members entered the Armed Forces, Mr. George E. Emery, Prof. Curry S. Hicks, and Dr. Vernon P. Helming were entrusted with the affairs of the society. The small number of men students on campus during the war made it advisable to suspend the function of Adelphia temporarily. When Don Parker, '44 member of Adelphia, returned last fall, however, he and the above-named members of the faculty formed a committee of four, who reinstated Adelphia as an active organization, by electing the following members of the senior class to honorary membership: Roger Richards, vice-president; Don Smith, secretary; Jack Blalock, John Delevoryas, Jason Kirshen, Chet Mann, and Bill Stowe. Don Parker became president when the organization resumed activity.

During the year, Adelphia supported several movements. It conducted a March-of-Dimes drive at a basketball game in January; and it cooperated with Isogon on such plans as the temporary post office to be constructed in Mem Hall, and the organization of "Pepsters," a large group representative of the student body to act as a nucleus of support to the cheer leaders at games.

Isogon

Hickman, Schiffer, Healy
Steele, Whitmore, Reynolds

At the Junior-Senior Processional that is held on campus each spring, eleven juniors are tapped as members of Isogon, the senior women's honor society. These students are chosen on the basis of their scholarship, leadership ability, character, and campus activities.

The functions of Isogon include the sponsoring of the Junior-Senior Processional, ushering during the Commencement exercises, and the publishing of Coediquette, a manual of campus customs distributed to incoming freshman girls each fall. The organization also acts as advisory body to Scrolls, sophomore women's honor society, which was founded by Isogon last year.

Under the advisership of Miss Curtis, Dean of Women, Isogon successfully organized campus cooperation with the Amherst USO this year. Early last fall, Isogon, in collaboration with the Senate, sponsored an informal dance for the benefit of the World Student Service Fund. Cooperating with Adelpia, Isogon made plans for the publication of a student-faculty directory and for the establishment of a temporary campus mail box to fulfill the function of a future post office in the new Student Building.

Through the efforts of this organization, too, Mountain Day was again introduced to campus life.

In order to eliminate honorary membership, Isogon provided for the election of all eleven members in the spring of their junior year. To effect the change from the old system, by which no more than seven juniors were tapped at the Junior-Senior Processional and no more than four seniors at the beginning of the second semester, Isogon elected three senior members early last fall.

The members this year included Carolyn Whitmore, president, and vice-president of SCA; Ruth Steele, vice-president, president of Chi Omega; Ruth Reynolds, secretary-treasurer, Business Manager of the INDEX; Marjorie Hickman, president of Panhellenic; Claire Healy, president of SCA; Eva Schiffer, chairman of the Quarterly Club, member of the INDEX Board; Shirley Chaves, president of the Hillel Foundation and of the United Religious Council, member of WSGA; Dorothy Johnson, president of Kappa Alpha Theta, vice-president of the Senior Class; and Dorothy Hurlock, secretary of the Senior Class, vice-president of the Panhellenic Association.

The aim of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges is four-fold. It incites students to attain the highest possible results from their college experience; it compensates students for outstanding achievement; it presents a standard of measurement of students comparable to that of other recognized scholastic and service organizations; and it recommends students to the business world.

MSC students were selected on the basis of leadership in extra-curriculum activities and scholarship. This year, ten seniors and three juniors were chosen to appear in the book.

Seniors selected were Jack Blalock, Jason Kirshen, Don Parker, Roger Richards, Marjorie Hickman, Ruth Reynolds, Carolyn Whitmore, Cornelia Dorgan, Dorothy Johnson, and Eva Schiffer. From the junior class, James Falvey, Rosemary Speer, and Lester Giles were nominated.

The five students who had been chosen members of Who's Who last year as juniors were included again in this year's book. They were Claire Healy, Don Smith, Jean Spettigue, Ruth Steele, and Anne Tilton.

Scrolls, founded by Isogon, is made up of thirteen sophomore women, chosen on the basis of potential leadership, personality, service, and scholarship.

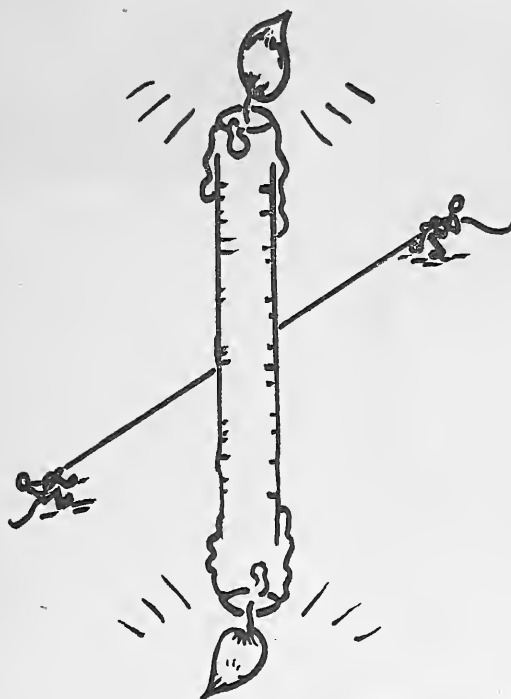

Scrolls' activities included supervision of freshman girls' hazing, sponsoring a convocation, ushering at college functions, and working with Isogon when necessary.

Members of Scrolls were Antonetta Romano, president; Jeannette Cynarski, vice-president; Janet Shoenberg, secretary-treasurer; Elizabeth Gilbertson, Laura Easland, Jacqueline Marien, Maija Honkonen, Marjorie Terry, Marcia VanMeter, Edith Dover, Priscilla Elliot, Betty Goodall, and Adriana Vanderpol.

Student Life

1945-'46 In Retrospect

Opening Couvo in '45 saw the campus during the early stages of returning to normal. Many of State's veterans had already enrolled, and many more arrived as the semester progressed. A college mass meeting was held Friday night in front of the Physical Education building where a huge bonfire raged. Faculty speakers were Miss Helen Curtis, the new Dean of Women, Dean Machmer, and Coach Tommy Eck. At the traditional rope pull on Saturday the 28th, the upperclassmen showed their superior strength by pulling the freshmen through the pond.

Maroon caps and white berets announced "frosh" hazing week with serenading at dawn, obeisance to upperclassmen and Senators, name placards, jumping of numerals, and "no trespassing" on the center walks to Stockbridge and the libe. Infringements of hazing rules were punished at pond parties.

The climax of fraternity and sorority rushing during the first two weeks of the semester was the pledging of one hundred and sixty-five men and women students.

The Collegian Pops Concert on October 10th featured Gerard Haft, world famous cellist, John Delevoryas, '46, pianist, and special performance by the ASTRP cadets.

The next social event of the year was an informal dance sponsored by Senate and Isogon. Highlight of the evening was the entertainment program featuring solos by Dot Morton and Bea Decatur.

Frosh with fish

November 3rd was proclaimed "Sadie Hawkins Day" at State, and the campus temporarily transformed into "Skonk Hollow, Dogpatch Village." Between the halves of the State-Maine game, at the blast of "Mammy Yokum's (Mrs. Van Orden's) gun, thirty fleet-footed "Daisy Maes" chased and captured thirty desperate "Lil' Abners" in the Sadie Hawkins race. "Marryin' Sam" (Dave Boehnke) was a'waitin' on his trusty mare and performed a mass mock wedding 'fore the grooms could get away. In the evening, the villagers turned out for the Sadie Hawkins shindig at the Drill Hall. While they danced round the Wishing Well to the smooth-citified music of the ASTRP band, Al Capp, creator of the Lil' Abner cartoon, picked out Lois Rosene as the typical Daisy Mae, and Dave Wood as Lil' Abner.

Last but not least came Amherst weekend ushered in by the football rally on the steps of Stockbridge Hall, followed by a Gridiron dance at the Drill Hall. Saturday afternoon came the climax when the Statesmen met the Jeffs on Pratt Field. Collegian Extras gave a complete history of Amherst-Mass. State rivalry. State was the first to score early in the second period. The Jeffs took the ball over for a touchdown towards the end of the second quarter to tie the score, leaving the final score at a 6-6 deadlock. According to the records, State has neither tied nor defeated Amherst in football since 1934, so great was the celebration Saturday night when the fraternities combined to give the first round robin "Vic" parties of the year.

La Maison Francaise, MSC's newly established French-language house, was dedicated on October 24th.

The topic of the first faculty-student forum on October 16th was "The Atomic Bomb and Its Implications." Dr. Ross led a discussion of the application of the fundamental theories involved. Prof. Troy discussed the moral implications, and Dr. Cary, the control of knowledge concerning the bomb, and the political issues arising from the development of atomic power.

With the continuing return of former Statesmen throughout the year, the Veterans' Association assumed a high peak of influence on campus. It was a leader in campus activities, both academic and social, and was very influential in alleviating the housing shortage.

During November, Prof. Rand's book "Heart O' Town" was published. It is a collection of sonnets and narrative verse forms telling the history of Amherst from prehistoric tales up until the present. The author's illustrative sketches make it a special treasure.

Eager to help colleges in war-torn Europe to rebuild, the students donated the receipts from their Community Chest drive to the World Student Service Fund. Next came the 8th Victory Bond Loan with a quota of $30,000. Students and faculty alike gave their wholehearted support, and succeeded in pushing the goal over the top. Sales from the "Victory Varieties" show on December 5th comprised a major part of the total. Features of the program were chorus numbers, skits by comedians Jasinski and Czaja, the barroom scene, and Bathing Beauty contest. The entire show was characteristic of Campus Varieties of past years.

of the United Religious Council on December 13th, and at convo on January 10th. About the same time, his new book "Poems: 1920-1945," went on sale at the College Store.

The traditional Interclass Play Contest presented by Roister Doisters on December 15th found the Juniors in first place for their excellent presentation of Alice Gustenberg's "Overtones." Second place went to the Seniors who gave "The Dear Departed" by Stanley Houston.

Sigma Iota became a pledge chapter of the national sorority Sigma Delta Tau last May, and was initiated as the Psi chapter on December 15th.

Early in the fall the Men's Glee Club was reorganized, and made its first campus appearance at the Christmas Vesper Service in a Christmas Concert by the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, and the Freshmen Choir.

Military Ball ushered in the campus social calendar of 1946 on Friday, January 11th, at College Hall. The multi-colored rays from the Crystal Ball Fountain, in the center of the floor, danced over the flags of the United Nations draped from the balcony; M.P.s stood guard, and couples waltzed merrily on to the strains of Al Strohman's orchestra. Dot Johnson was chosen Honorary Colonel in the traditional ceremony of crossed sabers. The Panhellenic Tea Dance at Mem Hall Saturday afternoon and fraternity round robins in the evening completed the weekend.

The snow finally came Wednesday before Winter Carnival Weekend beginning Thursday, February 21st, with people working feverishly to finish their snow sculptures, and a skiboot dance at the Mem Building. Friday afternoon State's basketball quintet met AIC's at Springfield, while the track team outstripped runners from the U. of Connecticut. At Carnival Ball Friday evening Janet Kehl was chosen Queen, with her court—Marion McCarthy, Barbara Cole, Ella Mae Parker, Sylvia Blair, and Ruth Steele. Theta Chi's "Transition from War to Peace" won first place in the snow sculpturing; Pi Phi placed second with a figure of the "Goddess of Peace" and Sigma Kappa's Skiboot was third. Skiing events Saturday afternoon and sorority round robins in the evening brought the weekend to a close.

Fine Arts

During the past year, the Fine Arts Council, under the direction of Dr. Stowell C. Goding, sponsored the following programs. Louis H. Benezet, of Dartmouth College, spoke on "Did Shakespeare Write Shakespeare?" on October 15.

November 15 introduced Mr. William T. Simpson of the English Department, with "Reminiscences of my Career in the Professional Theater," as his subject. The Annual Faculty recital took place on November 28, presenting Esther Strong Clapp, soprano; George Leland Nichols, pianist; and Maurice Freedman, violinist.

On December 12, Professor Clark L. Thayer of the Floriculture Department spoke on the subject of "Christmas Greens and Decoration."

January 15 and 28 brought Drama Workshop productions, two episode plays from "Shubert Alley."

Mr. George Emery, Alumni Secretary, spoke on "Art and the Circus," February 13.

Mid-March presented a program by Professor Frank P. Rand; March 13, a student recital; and April 10, a program celebrating annual Music Week.

Teresita and Emilio Osta

The year's schedule of Social Union programs opened with a talk by Louis Untermeter on October 26. "The American Heine" discussed "How to Read Poetry and Like It."

The Ostas, Teresita and Emilio, appeared on November 19, to present a musical evening with dance and piano. December 15 brought Roister Doisters' annual interclass play contest. The winners this year were the juniors, for their production of "Overtones" by Alice Gustenberg. Conrad Thibault, well-loved baritone, returned to State on January 14, while late in March was the annual Glee Club concert.

Social Union

Witold Malcuzinski

The first concert of this year's series, held on November 27, brought Witold Malcuzinski to campus. This brilliant pianist, a student of Paderewski, presented to an appreciative audience his interpretations of Chopin, and Beethoven's "Sonata Passionata."

On December 14, Suzanne Sten, nationally acclaimed star of radio, opera, and concert stage, appeared in Bowker Auditorium. A mezzo-soprano, Miss Sten has been lauded by the New York Times as "one of the outstanding voices of the time."

Third of the series, was the concert given by the American Troubadours on January 24. Their repertoire varied from Bach to Boogie. The concluding concert was the combined performance of Leona Flood, violinist, and the Yasnoffs, duopianists.

The Concert Series Committee included a board of directors composed of three faculty members: Dr. Stowell C. Goding, Dr. Charles Fraker, and Mr. Doric Alviani. Also on the board were Mr. Frank Nestle, a representative of Amherst, and Marcia Van Meter, who represented the student body. The committee itself was made up of the following members of each class: Faith Jillson, president; and Ruth Edmonds, Margaret O'Hagerty, Marguerite Krackhardt, Ruth Reynolds, Florence Melnick, and John Delevoryas. These seniors were assisted by Betty Fortune, Annette Hambly, Nancy Love, Dorothy Morton, and Annette Heyman, of the junior class; sophomores: Eleanor Galusha, Ruth Raphael, Roberta Curtis, Maydee Scheuneman, Marjorie Terry, and Theodora Melahouris; freshmen: Martha Beck, Marilyn Moser, Jane Sears, Jeannette Sanctuary, David Davis.

Carnival Ball in full swing at the drill hall

A week before the gala occasion of Winter Carnival weekend, the members of the committee could be seen gazing into space far above the campus, imploring the heavens to "Let It Snow, Let It Snow, Let It Snow." Though the committee had counted on reconverting the events of the weekend to a springtime theme, and Theta Chi fraternity had planned secretly to scoop the campus on their snow sculpturing by importing a truck load of snow from the country, everyone silently prayed that New England weather would not fail MSC.

On the Wednesday evening before the weekend the college was presented with a blanket of snow fourteen inches thick. Plans were put into action immediately. Snow piles were thrown up in front of the houses in anticipation of the modeling of ingenious statues.

Thursday evening an informal ski boot dance was held in the cozy convertible Mem Hall. Refreshments were prepared and served by the committee.

The holiday observance of Washington's birthday endowed the students with the spirit of festivity; books and thoughts of studying were forsaken for the pressing of formal clothes in preparation for the Carnival Ball.

Friday afternoon State basketball fans followed the team to Springfield and AIC, where the revengeful "Acers" were primed to defeat the Maroon and White.

They trounced thoroughly the Statesmen with a score of 78-33. The sports enthusiasts who remained on campus attended the intercollegiate track meet which was held in the cage; MSC was host to the University of Connecticut, and was victorious over its guest with an aggregate score of 35-34.

All day tightly bundled figures could be seen before many campus houses as they worked feverishly with snow which had to be coaxed into molds. Even though the conditions for sculpturing with snow were very poor, representatives of eight houses managed to erect statues. Theta Chi fraternity was awarded first prize for its symbolic "Transition from War to Peace" with a miniature cannon and the lamp of learning, which rested on three text books, flanking a veteran's discharge button. Pi Beta Phi sorority won second prize for her "Goddess of Peace" standing beside the globe. Sigma Kappa sorority received the third award for her large model of a ski boot.

Friday night over one hundred and fifty potential queens and their tuxedoed escorts floated into a very well disguised Drill Hall. The decorations of gigantic silver snowflakes pinned on a background of midnight blue gave the dancer the impression of the mystical and magical quality of the fleeting weekend, which occurs only once each year. The chaperons were called upon to act as judges for selecting the queen of the Ball. It was a difficult decision to make, but they chose a very fair representative of the beauty of MSC. Janet Kehl '47 reigned as queen over her court of Sylvia Blair '46, Barbara Cole '47, Marian McCarthy '46, Ella Mae Parker '46, and Ruth Steele '46. Music for the occasion was provided by Wendell Bradway and his orchestra.

Saturday afternoon skiers and spectators thronged to the hill behind Lewis and Thatcher dormitories to watch the men's ski races. In the evening, the fraternities and sororities opened their houses for round robin dances.

The committee members were James Falvey '47, Phil Houran '47, Ed Rachleff '47, Ray Fuller '47, Red Peckham '48, Art Peck '47, Mary Stebbins '47, Olga Harcovitz '47, Mary MacAfee '48, Fred Pula '48, and Barbara Nahlovsky '48.

Summer School

The 1945 summer school session extended from June 11 to September 1. It consisted of two six-week semesters. The total enrollment was 145 students.

Courses were offered in the fields of chemistry, education, English, history, home economics, mathematics, physics, psychology, and German. Under the two-semester plan, a student enrolled for one semester or both semesters and was expected to carry six semester credits during the term.

Most of the students were housed in college dormitories, the girls at the Abbey and the men at North College. Sixty AS TRP cadets, arriving on the first of August, completed the number of summer resident students.

Social activities were under the direction of a joint student-faculty committee. Larry Briggs served as chairman, and was assisted by Dorie Alviani and Dr. Stowell C. Goding. The student representatives to the committee were Thomas Culbertson, '47, Orman Glazier '47, Robert Bernstein '47, Marcelle Bonvouloir '47, Lucy Zwisler '46, Alvin Alkon '49, John Weston '48, and Janet Bemis '46. Events planned included informal dances each Friday night, visits to Look Park, Mt. Holyoke, Mt. Sugarloaf, and a dance at the end of the session.

ASTRP

That Army celebrity Rip (Rest in Peace) Kilroy stayed at MSC this year. Kilroy, who has been everywhere, can do anything, (even walk on the ceiling), and who is just a "great guy" was lured to our campus by the two hundred and thirty-five cadets who were studying here in the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program.

Most of the boys, seventeen to eighteen years old, came from the New England states, New York and New Jersey, and converted the Abbey into an army barracks.

The cadets carried a heavy schedule including a basic engineering course, physical training, and military drill. During their free hours they organized intramural teams, and played many exciting games in the cage.

The fellows in this unit, under the jurisdiction of Captain Winslow E. Ryan, voluntarily enlisted in the ASTRP before the war ended. The "ASTRAPS" were considered a part of the Army but were not subject to military law, were unable to frank their letters, and they drew no pay. From MSC they entered the regular Army and some went to OCS.

The cadets added color, music, and sociability to the campus.

SENIORS

The class of 1946 has an extraordinary history. In the fall of '42, it entered Massachusetts State College, four hundred twenty strong. From the beginning, it was noted for its spirit of cooperation and good fellowship. Here was a class which would give to the college a well-spring of leaders: good scholars, outstanding athletes, musicians, actors, artists. But in the spring of 1944, this well went partially dry when the men of '46 left college for the United States Armed Forces.

It was a blow for the class and the college to withstand, yet those who remained were determined to keep alive the spirit of '46. With initiative, they worked together with classes ahead of them to uphold college standards, to preserve campus traditions. Not a year went by without freshman hazing, a sophomore-freshman rope pull, Carnival Weekend, the Commencement play, and junior-senior processional. Now Commencement finds one hundred thirty-one members of the original class graduating, while slowly, classmates of three years ago are being discharged and are returning to State to pick up old threads and weave them again into the pattern we once set.

New Dorms Started on Butterfield Hill

Next fall, College will open to find men living on Butterfield Hill; and mountain climbing will no longer be the lament of the freshman girls.

On March 11, ground between Butterfield House and the Cold Storage Building was broken, and excavations were begun for the cellars of two new dormitories. They are now on their way to completion, which will be accomplished during the summer vacation.

The design of the new dormitories is similar to that of Lewis Hall, with the exception of cupolas. Likewise, the interior plans are the same as Lewis. In one of the buildings, there is to be a kitchen and dining room where the 300 occupants of both houses will board.

The Junior Class? Look for it in the "Libe," its nose two inches above a book, as it raises a critical eyebrow at German Romanticism for "Sturm und Drang," mutters a gentle curse over the dates of Stuart England, or peers impudently at the English Prose writers of the Victorian Era. Social butterflies you call them? Well, perhaps that too, in which case, we take refuge in generality. This must be "Golden Youth."

They were the year's leading thespians with their production of Alice Gustenberg's "Overtones," which won them Roister Doisters' award in the annual interclass play contest last December 15. Janet Kehl, Hilda Sheinberg, Sally Authier, and Josephine Colorrisso were the cast. Alice Motyka directed, while Arthur Karas and Elliot Swartz presided over footlights and props, and Mary Stebbins prompted. The satire merited not only first place in the contest, but a repeat performance at the Jones Library in Spring.

The year's end brings to the Juniors the Senior mantle for their president, Jim Falvey, the lighted candles of gowned senior women at junior-senior processional, good luck and God speed.

SOPHOMORES

Confronted with "Pats", speech courses, and sophomore physics, the life of the wise sophs always has its bleaker moments; yet, undaunted by the proverbial academic growing pains, the class ranked high in scholarship, high in the round of campus activities. The past year has marked the maiden voyage of Scrolls, the sophomore women's honorary society. Their achievements, numbering the supervision of freshman coeds' hazing, and the presenting of a convocation program devoted to college aims and spirit, gave promise of a long and vital career for the organization.

Class projects were participation in Roister Doisters' annual inter-class play contest; a production of sophomore follies, under the direction of Gene Ratner; and a class party, planned and managed by a committee headed by Fred Pula.

On December 7, sophomore elections were held by the Senate in Mem Hall. The following officers were chosen: Al Duquette, president; Jean Kidston, vice-president; Barbara Nahlovsky, secretary; Ed Jasinski, treasurer; Marcia VanMeter, captain; and Barbara Brown, sergeant-at-arms.

Fortunate men and women are the members of the class of 1949. They were the first in a four-year period to enter the college as it reverted to a peace-time basis. They have taken for granted all the wonderful college traditions that their predecessors kept functioning during the war years by hard work and constant plugging. Hence, they will continue to observe these traditions and add to their uniqueness.

They are witnessing the slow, steady progress of the state college's becoming the University of Massachusetts. They are privileged to participate as athletes and spectators in college football, baseball, basketball, swimming, soccer, track meets, and ski meets, for State is evolving into a prominent position in college sports events. They will see the college expand physically as new classroom buildings and dormitories are erected. They will witness the beginning of new courses; the filling of new faculty positions; the changes of campus landscape.

The class was organized under the governing committee of Al Alkon, as general chairman, assisted by Dick Levine, Shirley Drexel, Barb Bolles, and Claire Lavigne.

Fraternity Row

Fraternity Row has seen its last wartime year, as its male occupants return and plan fall housewarmings.

Alpha Epsilon Pi boasts twenty-two active members high ranking in scholastic and campus affairs. No less active was Alpha Gamma Rho, under president Bob Ryan. The chapter house was this year known as La Maison Francaise.

Kappa Sigma initiated eight new members in February and welcomed back many brothers from the armed services. Fall will find them "at home" in Kappa Sig, prominent as before in campus life.

Lambda Chi began to pick up old threads when, early in the second semester, eleven returned members initiated nine pledges. Plans were made to open the doors of a renovated house at the beginning of the fall semester.

Panhellenic Council is the governing and mediating body among sororities on campus. Its purpose is "to foster spirit of cooperation and interest in college activities for the common good of sorority and non-sorority women."

The officers of Panhellenic for this year were Marjorie Hickman, '46, president; Dorothy Hurlock '46, vice-president; Maurene Enright '47, secretary; and Marjorie Day '46, treasurer. Lillian Strome '46, Carolyn Whitmore '46, Geraldine Smith '47, Doris Martin '47, Genevieve Todd '47, Barbara Brown '47, Esther Coffin '47, and Gloria Harrington '47 were members of the council.

Panhellenic sponsored several campus activities, including a bridge party, and Intersorority Sing and Declamation contest in the spring. The council made the annual award of a plaque to the sorority with the highest scholastic average.

Nine members of Phi Sigma Kappa organized at the opening of second semester, with plans for returning to their chapter house in 1946-'47. Used as a College dormitory all year, the Q.T.V. house will soon again become the chapter's home. Q.T.V. has been actively organized throughout the year. The same was true of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, one of the first of the campus fraternities to resume a position of leadership in College life.

Sigma Phi Epsilon has not as yet reorganized since its close in 1943. Tau Epsilon Phi plans a fall homecoming, as does Theta Chi, whose snow sculpture symbolized the position of fraternities and of all veterans, that of transition from cannon to student's lamp.

Panhellenic

For the freshman girls, Panhellenic wrote a section in the Handbook which outlined rushing rules, sorority pledging and initiation dates, rules governing social functions, lists of campus sororities, and their members.

Organizations

Student Life

Ten faculty members compose the Student Life Committee, which acts as an advisory body to the Administration. Its function is to supervise the organization of the major social activities on campus.

The Committee was directly connected with the establishment of the Greeks at Massachusetts State, as well as with the organization of the Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Councils. It also passed on the formation of such honorary societies as Isogon and Adelpia and advised the Administration in favor of the establishment of Scrolls, last year.

Though its major task at present is the supervision of the returning fraternities, the Student Life Committee approves the scheduling of all dances, the appointment of chaperons, the determination of the length of all-campus functions, and general rules pertaining to campus life, before they are put into effect by student governing bodies.

Though the Committee consults with leaders of student organizations on specific problems, it consists of the following members of the faculty: Clark L. Thayer, chairman; Rollin H. Barrett, George E. Erickson, W. Burnett Easton, Mary E. M. Garvey, Vernon P. Helming, George W. Alderman, and Marshall O. Lanphear.

Academic Activities

The Academic Activities Board has as its main function the supervision of the financial affairs of certain campus organizations. The Board presents annual awards to students who were outstanding in extracurricular activities connected with the Board. The awards, which include silver and gold medals, gold medals with diamond chips, and a fifty dollar Business Manager's prize, are given on the basis of points earned by the students in Academic Activities.

In addition, a Conspicuous Service Trophy is presented to a deserving student who has performed an outstanding service for the college. Last year, Jean Spettigue '46 received this trophy for starting the Collegian "Pops" Concert, which has now become campus tradition.

The Board consists of two alumni, two faculty members, a general manager, ex-officio, and the undergraduate managers of Academic Activities Organizations.

Members of the Board this year include Dean Machmer, chairman; Professors Rand, Dickinson, and Glick. Student managers are Jean Spettigue of the Collegian; Ruth Reynolds, INDEX; Constance Lachance, Roister-Doisters; Margaret O'Hagerty, Women's Glee Club; and Faith Jillson, Orchestra.

Senate

The Senate, in its capacity of men's governing body, began the fall term with supervision of freshman hazing. The Senators held the annual rope pull and penalized freshmen miscreants according to tradition and rule. During the opening week, they cooperated with Isogon in sponsoring an informal dance. They called a meeting to explain campus traditions to the freshmen, and, in the absence of Adelpia, they took over the job of holding three mass meetings.

Then followed a series of innovations. The Black Hats column appeared again in the Collegian, and the Maroon Key was reestablished on campus. To further the cause of college expansion, the Senate sent letters to parents asking them to contact the legislature for support in obtaining new buildings and new faculty positions. Cheerleading was reestablished through the efforts of the Senate, and uniforms bought for the cheerleaders. Money was voted to support the proposed mailbox to be put up by Adelpia and Isogon. With the aid of the WSGA, the Senate formulated a new point system, planned a master schedule of club meetings, and delegated a student committee to handle affairs of campus interest. The Senate appointed a social committee to sponsor campus dances, and, with WSGA, chose the Winter Carnival Committee.

In an attempt to place student government on a more democratic basis, the Senate published its Constitution in a winter Collegian. Other activities included the successful mediation of a dispute between Amherst and State by two meetings with the Amherst Student Council; sponsoring of one Convocation, and contributing to the World Student Service Fund.

Ex-Senators, out of the Service, made valuable new members: Ed Anderson, Charles Dunham, Leo Moreau, Don Parker, and Ray Kneeland.

The officers of the Senate during the past year were Don Smith '46, president; Bill Stowe '46, vice-president; Jim Falvey '47, secretary; Roger Richards '46, treasurer; Orman Glazier '47, historian; and Bill Stowe '46, chairman of the judiciary board.

Glazier, Blalock, Parker, Giles
Falvey, Stowe, Smith, Richards

Foremost among WSGA's accomplishments of the year was the organization and installing of a Judiciary Board for Women Students. Both WSGA and the board were greatly encouraged by the attitude of commendation shown toward the new body by students. It has functioned very effectively throughout its first year, an assurance that it will continue with the same positive results to handle disciplinary matters of the women's student body. Girls who have been tried by this board have frequently commented on the fairness of its judgments and general policies. Not only the WSGA, but the women students as a whole are proud of it.

One of the significant attainments of the Judiciary Board has been the effective coordinating of all the house councils of women's dorms and houses.

The members of the board were Carolyn Whitmore '46, chief justice; Mary Ireland, senior member; Frances White, junior member ex-officio, and Doris Martin, elected junior member.

It was WSGA, working with the Senate, which sponsored Sadie Hawkins Day last fall. It was through the influence, plans, and directed efforts of WSGA and Senate that the College Bulletin Board was erected in front of North College. This project was first brought up at a WSGA-Senate banquet held last October. Also voiced at that banquet were proposals for bi-monthly convos and a campus post office. The former we have seen put into action second semester. The idea of having convocation every other week to insure better programs was presented to President Baker, who approved and initiated it. The proposal of a post office on campus was put into the hands of Isogon and Adelpia for further study and eventually, action.

Members of the Executive Council were Anne Tilton '46, president; Frances White '47, vice-president; Connie Stephens '47, secretary; Helen Timson '46, treasurer; Shirley Chaves '46, sorority representative; Marcia Van Meter, and Barbara Nahlovsky, sophomore representatives. Also members of the council were the house chairmen, Margaret Parsons '47, Jean Spettigue '46, Helen Timson '46, and Joanne Frelander '46.

Men's Glee Club

After three years, the Men's Glee Club has been given a new start under the leadership of Elliot Swartz '47. Starting from a quartet, the group has grown to include fifteen male voices. These "Sons of Old Massachusetts" made their debut with the Women's Glee Club at the Christmas vespers.

As much a part of campus as the College Pond are the four "Statesmen," a quartet with its novel arrangements of Negro spirituals, college songs, chanties and popular tunes. This year, Elliot Swartz '47, Leon Thresher '49, Melvin Goldman '47, and Stanley Chiz '49 as the Statesmen, sang at all the concerts given by the Women's Glee Club at Westover Field. They made their initial appearance on campus in the Victory Bond Show.

The Statesmen, a rather young organization, was started in 1939 by Doric

Statesmen: Chiz, Thresher, Goldman, Swartz

Alviani. Forced by the war to disband, the quartet staged a comeback in 1944, and has since been actively carrying on its campus tradition.

In the absence of Doric Alviani, the Women's Glee Club voted into effect a long considered project: that of student leadership. After tryouts, the following girls were elected to head the group:

Margaret O'Hagerty '46, Dorothy Morton '47, Dorothy Johnson '46, and Annette Heyman '47. In addition to these leaders, the Glee Club was placed under the management of an executive board: Margaret O'Hagerty '46, Manager; Barbara Cole '47, Secretary-treasurer; Barbara Scannell '47, Publicity; Iris Cooper '47, Librarian; and Ruth Edmonds '46, Public Relations.

On December 16, the combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs made an initial appearance at Christmas vespers. In addition, the Women's Glee Club and the Statesmen presented a Christmas program at the Westover Field Military Hospital. During second semester, the Glee Clubs and Orchestra presented an annual Social Union Concert, at which the Statettes and Statesmen were a special attraction.

Twenty-eight girls formed the Freshman choir, under the direction of Mrs. Esther Strong Clapp. These choristers, in the traditional maroon robes met on Sundays to sing at Vesper services. Joining the Women's Glee Club, they took part in the annual Christmas Vespers.

Early in the fall, the Freshman Choir presented a convocation program of hymns. These included "Once to Every Man," by Moliant; and the round, "Come, Follow, Follow," by Hilton.

This year the MSC Orchestra, formerly known as the Sinfonietta, was conducted by Mr. Maurice Freedman, concert master of the Springfield Symphony Orchestra. Under the guidance of his exacting musical nature and love of perfection, the Orchestra prepared various concerts which met with the approval and acclaim of campus audiences. As its major concert, the Orchestra appeared in conjunction with the Glee Clubs during the annual spring Music Week.

The Quarterly

The Spring Issue of 1945 marked the resumption of peace-time activity for the Quarterly, undergraduate literary publication on campus. Financed by direct allocation from the Academic Activities Board, the issue drew a congratulatory letter from President Baker to the Editorial Committee, Barbara Cross '46, Dorothea Lohmann '46, Arnold Golub '47, and Hilda Sheinberg '47.

In connection with the annual competition, the following students assisted the Committee on the two issues published this year—again sponsored by the Academic Activities Board: Judith Bazol '48, Patricia Clancy '48, Dorothy Monesi '49, Jean Roberts '48, Gene Ratner '48, and Ann Sizer '48.

Partly, perhaps, in response to the return of some of Massachusetts State's vigorous poets and other writers, the tone of the Quarterly deepened. Without becoming stuffy, it became more solid. Meanwhile during the Spring, Liaison, literary publication by and for alumni and goal of many Quarterly contributors, appeared for the seventh time since the summer of 1944. This added stimulus makes the vigor and the deepening purpose of the Quarterly heartening signs for its future.

Quarterly Club

Organized in the fall of 1943 to perpetuate student interest in creative writing during the war, the Quarterly Club has persisted as an informal organization concerned with literary effort, independent of the Quarterly, undergraduate literary publication.

Guided by its faculty adviser, Dr. Maxwell H. Goldberg, the Club has employed two media to fulfill its purpose: speakers on aspects of artistic methods, and informal discussions of specimens of student writing.

Professor Rand rendered a manuscript reading of his "From Letters by Emily Dickinson," and Arthur Monk '41, discussed Dostoevski's Brothers Karamazov. Mr. Lamarr of the History Department presented a critical study of contemporary Southern authors, and Mr. Lane, instructor in English, spoke on E. M. Forester. Bill Manchester '46 and Leon Barron '47, back from the Pacific, offered for discussion their poetic output of the last years.

The officers were Eva Schiffer '46, chairman; Connie Dorgan '46, vice-chairman; Barbara Cross '46, secretary-treasurer; Janet Shoenberg '48, Arnold Golub '47, and Arnold Murray '46, members-at-large.

Collegian

The weekly edition of the Massachusetts State Collegian provides students and faculty with news from all departments of the College, and with a complete knowledge of current activities on campus. Every Thursday noon, students jam the doors of Stockbridge to obtain a Collegian to read while waiting for their lunch. In addition to a review of the latest football or basketball game, the paper may contain a preview of coming college events, a discussion of Mem Hall's current art exhibits, or a feature story about a faculty member.

The Collegian platform stated that the paper was backing every aspect of the program to change the status of the College to the University of Massachusetts. It advocated better street lighting and adequate sidewalks to diminish the hazardous walking of students to and from campus. It campaigned for an improvement in student government and an intensified college sports program. It supported the aspirations of the Quarterly toward independent status. It cooperated closely with the Administration and the alumni in publicizing campus affairs. It devoted one entire issue to publicity for the drive toward a University of Massachusetts.

The set-up of the paper itself has changed. Regular pre-war six-page issues replaced the wartime four-page volume. A seal designed by Cornelia Dorgan took the place of the traditional title head.

Among new columns were "You're Well Told," a view of campus life from the ASTRP point of view, and "World at a Glance," a summary of the week's news in national and international affairs. "Vets' Views" was a strong addition at the beginning of second semester. The reappearance of "Black Hats," the Senate column, was an indication that campus functions were returning to their pre-war degree of importance. "Sports-cast" grew in significance as our teams again held their own in intercollegiate athletics. Two satirical columns, "Co-editing" and "State meant," were popular.

The policy of the paper throughout the year stressed its function, not only as a record of campus events, but as an organ of student opinion. Letters to the Editor, guest editorials, and polls of student opinion on specific questions provided for its expression.

On October 10, the Collegian sponsored the second annual "Pops" concert. Dr. Goldberg again acted as Master of Ceremonies. On his program were John Delevoyas, pianist, who accompanied Gerhard Haft, internationally known cellist, recently connected with the Boston Pops Orchestra. The ASTRP's contributed a skit, "A Typical Day at State." Collegian "extras" were the programs for the evening, the proceeds of which went to the fund for the University of Massachusetts. Much of the credit for the success of the concert goes to Jean Spettigue and her committee.

At the end of the first semester, Rosemary Speer '47 succeeded Jason Kirshen '46 as editor-in-chief. Helen Burroughs '47 became managing editor, Mary O'Reilly '47, associate editor, John Masterlerz '48 and Theodora Melahouris '48, news editors, and Agnes Bowles '47, secretary.

The following were members of the business board: Arthur Karas '47, business manager; Donald Jacobs '48, circulation manager; Allen Kahn '48, assistant; Virginia Minahan '47, advertising manager; Carol Bateman '47 and Orman Glazier '47, assistants; Gloria Bissonette '47, subscription manager; Jean Hinsley '48 and Barbara Hall '49, assistants; Verne Bass '47, secretary; Jacqueline Delaney '48 and Marian Bass '49, assistants.

This year's reporters were Anne Powers '47, Jean Bayles '48, Jewel Kaufman '48, Barbara Stegner '48, Dorothy Gardner '47, Lillian Heaver '48, Ruth Raphael '48, Miriam Biletsky '48, Mildred Rappaport '48, Jean Roberts '48, Pauline Tangnay '48, Barbara Wolfe '48, and Fran Johnson '46. Columnists were Irv Robbins '47, Doris Anderson '47, Ronald Thaw '47, Don Parker '46, and Arnold Golub '47.

Index

In the spring of 1945, the INDEX Board elected its new editors who, as early as the annual picnic, had begun to sift vague plans and exchange convictions about the first peacetime INDEX to appear one year from then. The Editors were Cornelia Dorgan, '46, Editor-in-Chief; Ruth Reynolds, '46, Business Manager; Shirley Chaves, '46, Associate Editor; Lois Bannister, '46, Literary Editor; Eleanor Nason, '46, Statistics Editor; Jackie Winer and Doris Chaves, '47, Art Co-Editors; and Ronald Thaw, '47, Sports Editor.

We left for the summer with strong determination. "More photography!" was our rallying cry now that wartime shortages were being remedied. More pages was our ambition, though paper was still more scarce than we dared admit. During the summer, editor and business manager met to talk over the dummy which was then not even the size of a skeleton, and to sign contracts with the Andover Press of Andover, Sargent Studio of Boston, and the Mohawk Engraving Company of Greenfield.

Fall brought us back to campus and gifted us with a host of enthusiastic competitors. We met and worked in the INDEX office in the Mem Building. There Ruth planned and efficiently carried into action photographers' schedules; kept the budget at an even balance; and made assignments to her staff members, Joanne Freeland, Anne Merrill, and Estelle Freeman, and to competitors.

Lois meted out writeups and interviews to competitors, and, with an eye to the March first deadline, edited and typed copy and more copy. Shirley Goldstein, Roslyn Glick, Frances Johnston, and Jean Gould made up her board.

Ellie Nason, with the help of Connie Thatcher, the Board secretary, and Bobbie Smith, and several competitors, gathered statistics from the four corners of campus with care and zeal; while Ronnie Thaw covered sports, and Jackie and Doris planned and directed competitors in designing the divider pages of the book.

We had always the sound counsel and ready encouragement of our faculty advisers. Prof. Dickinson helped with our finances, cheered and consoled, and achieved the impossible in finding a store of paper for us in midwinter when the increased enrollment demanded a leap in the number of copies to be printed. Dr. Goldberg advised us in literary matters, helped us with the theme of the book, and offered suggestions for guiding the board toward integration and teamwork.

With previous INDEXES before us, we made decisions about type, headings, page arrangements—problems at first mystifying, but gradually working clear. Ruth Reynolds suggested a new arrangement of the senior pictures, a valuable innovation.

In late fall, the INDEX business board held a poster contest for its advertisers. Betty Goodall '49 was winner.

Following the precedent of last year's editor, Ruth Murray, we wrote to the parents of our former classmates in service, asking for pictures and information. Mail immediately began to stream into the office. Ruth filed pictures, and kept records of servicemen's whereabouts.

In November, the annual awarding of the INDEX cup for excellence in high school yearbooks took place at a meeting at Westfield High School of the Western Massachusetts League of School Publications. The decision was made in favor of the Nasaki, of Northampton High School. Judges of the competition were Dr. Maxwell Goldberg, Professor Lawrence Dickinson, Mrs. Kathleen Foley, Mr. Llewellyn Derby, and Miss Cornelia Dorgan.

On February 25, these students were elected to the board: Literary, Sally Authier '47, Elaine Handlin '48; Business, Marge Day '46, Georgia McHugh '46, Bill Feldman '48*, Theodora Melahouris '48, Carol Bateman '47, Virginia Minahan '47; Statistics, Gladys Geiger '47, Annis Hittinger '47, Lillian Jones '48; Photography, Elliot Swartz '47, Arnold Erickson '49; Sports, Chester Bowan '49; Art, Connie Mangum '47.

To those competitors placed on the waiting list, the INDEX is grateful and indebted for their contributions of time and effort.

Roister Doisters

Another year of theater tradition at State awaits its last curtain call, then, the final ringing down. Roister Doisters' opening night came with the annual winter interclass play contest. Meetings were dramatic interludes; then the spring play closed the season.

The earliest of these Roister Doister meetings was a program of readings from "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," given by Mr. William T. Simpson of the English Department. A spring meeting, to which students and faculty were invited, presented Rose Franken's "Claudia," with Ruth Steele as Claudia. The cast included George Burgess '49, Jean Gould '46, Jason Kirshen '46, Alice Motyka '47, and Terry Orlandella '48.

Climaxing the first semester was the interclass play contest, which was staged on Saturday evening, December 15. Elbow grease and inspiration, a few frazzled nerves, a dab of grease paint, and the four productions came before the footlights. The seniors selected Stanley Houston's "The Dear Departed," with cast as follows: Phyllis Tuttle, Jean Gould, Bill Stowe, Ruth Felstiner, Jerry Swanson, and Jason Kirshen. Shirley Spring directed; Daphne Cullinan coached. Fran Johnston was stage manager, while Mary Ireland took charge of scenery. Lois Ann Banister and Jerry Shea were mistresses of property and wardrobe.

Next came the junior entry, "Overtones," by Alice Gustenberg. Cast in the four roles of the play were Janet Kehl, Hilda Sheinberg, Sally Authier, and Jo Colorusso. Alice Motyka directed, assisted by co-stage managers, Elliot Swartz and Arthur Karas, and prompter, Mary Stebbins.

The sophomores produced Madeline L'Engle's "18 Washington Square, South." The cast included Jeanne Rheume, Mary Theresa Riley, Frances Gobbi, Elizabeth Osborne, Ed Jasinski, and Sherwood Davidson. The production was under the direction of Lorry Healy.

Marden, Bazol, McCarthy, Jasinski, Karas, Guertin, Sheinberg, Romano, Colorusso
Falvey, Gould, Ireland, Cullinan, LaChance, Spring, Felstiner, Kirshen

Stage manager was Jackie Marien; make-up was delegated to Claire Como. In charge of properties were Jean Bayles and John Masterlerz.

Last, certainly not the least was the freshman contribution, "The Boor," by Anton Chekov. Pat Scheckman, Fran Lucier, Chet Bowen, Dick Brown, Audrey Boyle, Ursula Kronheim made up the cast. The director was Carol Heady, the stage manager, Helen Osuch. Barbara Lee prompted, while Margaret Marshall was in charge of costumes, Don Ray managed property, and Florence Chapman presided over makeup.

For years, it seems, the freshmen have carried off the laurels of this contest, but this year broke tradition as well as followed it, and honor was showered on junior heads, as judges Mr. William Simpson, Miss Margaret Woodbridge, and Mr. Robert Lane proclaimed them victors, wreathed and garlanded, and incidentally, provided incentive for planning a repeat performance at the Jones Library in spring. Professor Frank P. Rand presented the award to the winning class, a copy of Lawrence Housman's "The Golden Sovereign."

Early in the second semester, Roister Doisters racked its brain, read several plays, and finally selected for its spring production, Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth." Tryouts were held on March 12, to find a cast which, with the grace of masks, could be thirty-five characters, but far fewer actors. Also, a dinosaur was sought. None tried out, unfortunately, so the spirit of dinosaur was summoned and delegated in his best "Harvey" manner to play his part.

The play is an allegory in burlesque, dramatizing the family career of Mr. Human Race from his youth in the Ice Age, through such catastrophes as the Flood and finally, World War I. A serious, optimistic vein is maintained by caricature and symbol in this play which won the Pulitzer Prize for 1942.

"Skin of Our Teeth" was booked for a possible five performances: first on May 4 for guests on High School Day; on May 11, for campus and town; and later, on June 8, for Commencement guests. It was hoped that the cast might present two off-campus performances, possibly for the War Memorial Drive in the eastern part of the state.

Roister Doisters was headed by Daphne Cullinan '46, president; Shirley Spring '46, vice-president; Connie LaChance '46, manager; Mr. Frank P. Rand, faculty coach; John Masterlerz '48, electrician; Faith Jillson '46, organist; and Mr. Raymond Spear, general stage assistant.

U. R. C.

Under the sponsorship of the United Religious Council, Sunday afternoon vespers were held throughout the first semester. A successful clothing drive was carried on in January.

The Council invited David Morton, Amherst poet, to address an audience of students and faculty one evening during the Christmas season.

The celebration of Brotherhood Week was again this year a leading activity of the council's program. At convocation on February 14, representatives of the three faiths spoke. The subject was "Brotherhood—Where and How." Mr. John Hurley, the Catholic representative, spoke on "Teamwork"; Rabbi Oscar Fleishaker chose as his subject, "Public Opinions and their Effects"; and Mr. George Goodman, a negro Protestant, spoke on "Jobs, Houses, Schools, and Brotherhood."

The officers of the Council were Shirley Chaves '46, president; Marion McCarthy '46, vice-president; Shirley Spring '46, secretary-treasurer. The members-at-large were Chet Mann '46, Claire Healy '46, Gloria Greenberg '46, Edwin Rachleff '47, Helen Symonds '48, and John Masterlerz '48. Rev. W. Burnett Easton was faculty adviser.

The Hillel Foundation, which became affiliated with the B'nai B'rith Foundation in 1943, had as officers for 1945-46, Shirley Chaves '46, president; Gloria Greenberg '46, vice-president; Hope Simon '48, corresponding secretary; Lillian Kurlan '48, recording secretary; and Arthur Karas '47, treasurer.

Services were conducted every Sunday by Rabbi Ruchames, who came to the local chapter from the University of Alabama. Under his direction, the Program Committee, headed by Sara Seltzer '46, held bi-monthly meetings. Hillel had many prominent speakers at these meetings, as well as a series of discussion groups. Included in their program was an observance of Parents' Day, to give parents an idea of the purpose of Hillel.

Among the various Hillel activities were elementary and advanced Hebrew classes, a choir, and a Judaism and Zionism Club. The Calendar, edited by Estelle Freeman '47, kept students informed about Jewish current events.

By means of their common goal and belief, the members of the Newman Club strive to attain within themselves a unity of the spiritual, intellectual, and social life.

The club holds monthly meetings featuring speakers or round table discussions to consider specific questions concerning the religious life of college students. At one meeting, Jim Falvey, Betty Gagné, and Roger Richards spoke to the group on mixed marriages.

The Newman Club joined SCA and the Hillel Foundation in sponsoring an evening with David Morton, December 13.

On February 14, the Newman Club elected the following officers: Dick Lee '49, president; Barbara Daly '47, vice-president; Barbara Broderick '49, secretary; Jerry Landry '49, treasurer; Florence Healy '47, United Religious Council Representative; Anne Heffron '48, program chairman; and Anna Walak '49 and Lillian Pepka '47, program committee members.

The Student Christian Association, in fulfilling its purpose of promoting Christian fellowship and providing opportunities for worship, has successfully carried out an effective program of worship, deputations, and work projects. The annual mid-winter conference for the Connecticut Valley was held this year at Springfield College. As a special activity, a public relations group held bi-monthly meetings under the leadership of Chet Mann '46, to discuss vital problems, such as race relationships.

Scan, edited by Martha McAfee '48, had as its policy a double purpose: to increase its news value, and to promote constructive literary achievement through its editorials on world politics.

The members of the SCA Cabinet were Claire Healy '46, president; Dot Hurlock '46, vice-president; Janet Kehl '47, secretary; Yoshiro Befu '46, Marjorie Day '46, Lester Giles '47, Jean Gould '46, Dorothy Holly '47, Barbara Howard '47, Jeanne Lindsey '47, Martha McAfee '48, Shirley Spring '46, Carolyn Whitmore '46, Betty Goodall '48, Art Peek '47, and Chet Mann '46. Freshman members were Jim Fulton, Arnold Erickson, Janet Vondell, and Arreta Edmonds.

Phillips Brooks

This marks the twelfth year of Phillips Brooks Club activity at Massachusetts State College. The club held bi-monthly meetings at the Grace Church parish house. At these meetings, supper was served, followed by open discussions led by Reverend Jesse Trotter, the group's religious supervisor.

A full program, including business, worship, and recreation was carried out. Among the year's highlights were picnics, dances, and skiing parties.

Dr. Charles Fraker was faculty adviser to the club. Student officers were Carol Smith '46, president; Constance Stephens '47, vice-president; and Wilma Graves '46, secretary-treasurer.

As its purpose, Phillips Brooks Club strives to assist the college student to discover what sort of a person he aspires to be; to keep his moral and spiritual development abreast of his intellectual growth; to help him comprehend and achieve a Christian philosophy of life, and a personal faith; and to help him in understanding the Episcopal Church. Communion services were held in the Chapel Room in South College every third Friday of the month.

Wesley Foundation

Wesley Foundation, the Methodist Student movement on campus, is under the direction of Dr. Bruce Wilson, minister of the Methodist Church in Amherst. Each Sunday evening, the group attended fireside forums at the home of Dr. Adrian H. Lindsey. Speakers were invited to several meetings. Among them were Dr. H. Hughes Wagner of Trinity Church, Springfield and Dr. Eddy Aservatham from the University of Madras, India. Certain meetings were set apart for discussions of scripture, inter-faith affairs and the history of missions.

Wesley Foundation is built upon the ideal of uniting Methodist students through student religious organizations, and of supplementing college religious programs with emphasis upon the characteristics of Methodism.

This year's officers were Ruth Raison '46, president; Carolyn Whitmore '46, vice-president; Eleanor Rockwood '46, secretary; Jeanne Lindsey '46, treasurer. Dr. and Mrs. Lindsey were advisers to the group.

Pilgrim Fellowship

Two years ago, a group of students met several times a month at the home of Reverend Roy Pearson, pastor of the Congregational Church of Amherst, to study and discuss fundamental ideas of their religion. This college year found the group numbering ninety-nine students from both Amherst and MSC. They devoted one Sunday evening each month to a supper-discussion meeting. Included on the schedule of these meetings were a student panel on "Christian Education for Protestant Youth," led by Art Peck '47, Carolyn Whitmore '46, and Lois Banister '46. Eugene Wilson, Alumni Secretary of Amherst College, spoke at one meeting on the present world crisis and Christianity's solution. Rev. Frank Cary, who had been for many years a missionary in Japan, related to the group some of his experiences as an internee of a Japanese prison camp.

The fellowship was conducted under student leaders, who planned both meals and programs for each meeting. Frances White '47 was general chairman of the committee. She was assisted by Lois Ann Banister '46, William Stowe '46, Frances Johnston '46, and Marjorie Day '46.

Members of the French House

French Club

At the opening meeting of the French Club, a group of students presented an amusing skit based on life at the French School at Middlebury, where several club members had spent the summer. Following this initial meeting were others, featuring French films and a talk on Normandy by guest speaker, M. LeBrec.

In the midst of the Christmas season on campus, the Club presented its annual pageant of the Nativity, now a campus tradition.

Outstanding among its events was the "Carnival of Nations," which the French Club sponsored jointly with the other language clubs, in January. During second semester, Dr. Annam spoke on Romain Rolland, and Claude and Madame Lebel, co-authors of the current French book, La Garde Montante, lectured on their experiences in the French underground. The Club ended the year with a presentation of a one-act play.

Officers for the year were president, Marjorie Flint '46; vice-president, Alice Motyka '47; secretary, Frances Gobbi '48; and treasurer, Ruth Frank '46.

Meetings have been conducted throughout the year in the French House.

Handbook

This year the publication of the Handbook was placed under the supervision of the Academic Activities Board rather than the combined Student Christian Association, WSGA, and the Senate organizations. At last, the book received the recognition due its position. Formerly known as the Freshman Handbook, it has now become the reference book for all classes, for it contains information concerning the entire college.

The editor-in-chief, Patricia Smith '47, was responsible for the general policies of the book. The business manager, Marjorie Hattin '47, was responsible for the printing contract, the raising of supplementary funds, and the distribution to sub-freshmen and other students.

The Handbook contained information on all customs and traditions of the college, religious activities, student government, Greek letter fraternities, athletics, academic activities, the Stockbridge School, and campus life. It published all the State songs and inaugurated an edition of the college calendar giving dates for examinations and recesses. Another publication has taken a prominent position on campus.

Home Ec Club

From its initiation of new members at a candle light service, to its annual spring banquet, the Home Ec. Club fulfilled an active and varied program. Early in the fall semester, two teas were held, one to entertain members of state-wide Home Ec. Clubs on conference here; the other, to introduce freshmen to home economics at State.

Christmas brought an evening of caroling, during which members sold cookies and doughnuts to the dorm students. The proceeds went to the World Student Service Fund.

At the 1945 Home Ec. banquet, Marjorie Day '46 was awarded the annual Danforth Scholarship. Upon her return to college last fall, she described to the club the experiences which the scholarship had afforded her during the summer. She had spent two weeks in St. Louis, going through the Purina Plant and various firms.

The officers were Mary Petersen '46, president; Margaret Parsons '47, vice-president; Annis Hittinger '47, secretary; Eleanor Nason '46, treasurer; Florence Melnick '46, social chairman; Rachel Bouchard '47, song leader; and Romaine Ashe, publicity head.

German Club

Es ist der Zweck des deutschen Vereins, Studenten die Gelegenheit zu geben, die Traditionen, Gebräuche und Ideen des Deutschlands der Gegenwart kennenzulernen, mit besonderem Nachdruck auf die Verwendung der deutschen Sprache.

To fulfill this purpose, the German Club has devoted one of each of its semi-monthly meetings to songs, games, business, discussions; the other, to an informal lecture on a literary or otherwise informative subject by a faculty member or a veteran. Occasionally, students presented readings of papers. Late in the spring, the Club held a successful picnic. Aided by its faculty adviser, Dr. Margaret Woodbridge, the Club sponsored a conversation group meeting twice weekly.

The officers were Gloria Greenberg '46, president; Esther Coffin '47, vice-president; and Jean Cummings '47, secretary-treasurer.

Political Action

The Political Action Group, a newcomer this year among campus clubs, was organized with the purpose of providing students with an opportunity for better understanding of current affairs.

For special meetings, speakers were invited. Three Smith College students addressed the group on the subject of China's internal problems, giving their opinions as to whether the United States ought to help the Chinese in solving these problems. At a later meeting, a labor representative from a Holyoke textile union spoke on current labor views.

The following were officers: Frances O'Shea '46, president; Wilma Graves '46, secretary-treasurer; and Lila Lawless '47, publicity manager. Dr. Theodore Caldwell was the group's adviser.

Flying Club

The Flying Club was new on campus this year. It was formed for the purpose of teaching students everything possible about flying to prepare them for aviation as hobby or career. Several members had been Army or Navy fliers; many are planning to be air line pilots or instructors after graduating from college.

At weekly meetings, the club discussed the plane, fundamental ground instructions, and improvements in flying.

A visit to LaFleur Field in Northampton afforded a chance to inspect planes. Members planned to attend air shows in Springfield and Westfield, and to hold a "Plaid Shirt Dance."

The following were officers of the Flying Club during its first year: Nancy Kelleher '47, president; Bob Lowell '49, vice-president; and Dave Pimental '49, secretary-treasurer.

Animal Husbandry

The purpose of the Animal Husbandry Club is to further the knowledge of general agriculture in lectures by men qualified to discuss specific phases of agricultural problems in which the members of the Club are particularly interested. Meetings, which were open to all students on campus, were held twice a month.

The programs included a demonstration, by means of slides, of artificial insemination; a motion picture on the physiology of milk secretion; an illustrated lecture on soil conservation; and a discussion of forage production by Mr. Ralph Donaldson, College Extension agronomist.

The officers were Jerry Swanson '46, president; Fred Turner, Stockbridge, vice-president; Donald Smith '46, secretary; and Walter Thiem, Stockbridge, treasurer.

Flying club officers: Lowell, Kelleher, Pimental

Chemistry Club

At its monthly meetings, the Chemistry Club presents various programs designed to supplement the experience in fields of current import and widen the knowledge of students interested in chemistry. With the help of Dr. Ritchie, head of the Chemistry Department and faculty adviser to the Club, the group sponsored speakers including a series of talks by students who related their experiences in chemical laboratories during the past summer, a group of representatives from various manufacturing plants, and Robert Mosher '40, who gave a lecture on "Paper and Plastics."

Though the Club was founded only last year, interest in it has been steady. At present, it offers the opportunity for chemistry majors to become student affiliates of the American Chemical Society, upon recommendation by at least two members of the Society. Affiliate membership entails such advantages as a subscription to Chemical Engineering News, an offer of special rates for all scientific publications, and employment aid.

The officers were Roger Richards '46, president; Connie LaChance '46, vice-president; and Betsy Atwood '47, secretary.

Ski Club

To skiing enthusiasts, the Ski Club offers competition, exercise, and fun. This past year, the club has taken steps toward becoming accepted as a campus organization by submitting its newly written constitution to the Student Life Association.

The Ski Club was in charge of work on the ski trail behind Thatcher Hall, and it also managed the skiing competition during Winter Carnival weekend. On December 16, the members sponsored a trip to Blanford. Later, between semesters, they went to Peterboro, New Hampshire for a three-day weekend of skiing. They held, during second semester, a trial meet with Amherst College.

Two of the speakers who appeared at the weekly meetings were Stan Brown, former instructor of U.S. Army Ski Troops, and Almeda Howard, a veteran skier. Their subjects were, respectively: Equipment and Clothing and the Theory of Skiing; and Ski Resorts in New England.

With an annual banquet in the Spring, the Ski Club concluded an active year. The officers were Orman Glazier '47, president; Bill Stowe '46, vice-president; and Jean Swenson '47, secretary-treasurer. The MSC Ski Club is now a member of the United States Eastern Ski Association.

Every week, Naiads have practiced in the pool of the Physical Education Building in preparation for the annual Eastern Region National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet. State's mermaids, having set a high precedent in previous years, aimed to be in best form for the competition with other leading Eastern colleges.

The purpose of Naiads was not only to provide coeds with swimming enjoyment, but also to help them develop and improve strokes, formations, and, chiefly, speed.

The season, although less active than usual, featured in late spring the annual water ballet.

Officers for the year were Nancy Davis '47, president, and Georgie Tyler '48, manager. Mrs. Winifred Gaskell was faculty adviser.

The Outing Club spent its fall Sunday afternoons biking or hiking to Mount Toby or Mount Warner, or to the Youth Hostel in South Amherst.

On Columbus Day, a holiday for the College this year, a group of members and faculty drove to Stratton, Vermont and ventured bravely up the "Long Trail" to picnic at the Willis Ross Camp. A later acquaintance with the "Long Trail" was enjoyed, sedentarily, when Mr. John Vondell showed colored slides of the trail at one of the monthly meetings.

In March, an annual Recreation Conference was held on campus. Representatives from Amherst, Smith and Mount Holyoke Colleges attended. As an event of the conference, the Outing Club helped sponsor an informal dance on March 16.

Officers for 1945-46 were Mac Cande '47, president; Helen Timson '46, vice-president; Helen Sellaw '48, secretary; Janet Shoenberg '48, treasurer; Helen Tuttle '46, program chairman; Jackie Delancy '48, membership chairman; Ruth Russell '48, publicity; Janice Riley '47, refreshments; Barbara Beitzel '47, head of trip committee.

4-H Club

This year, on the third Thursday of every month, State's 4-H Club members met to put into action their pledge of "Head, Heart, Hand, and Health."

Square dancing proved a frequent and popular event on the club's calendar, while sleigh rides and an annual banquet highlighted the season. The proceeds from square and informal dances were saved with the purpose of buying a "vic" for the Farley Club House.

Two members, Betty Goodall '48, and Eleanor Rockwood '46, were sent by the club as delegates to a rural Youth Conference held last fall in West Virginia. The problem before the conference was world peace on the home front. On their return, the State delegates reported their experiences to the group, and presented their findings in the form of magazine articles and a radio broadcast.

The executive board of the campus 4-H Club was made up of the following officers: Barbara Nahlovsky '48, president; Kenneth Morrison '49, vice-president; Peggy Slate '49, secretary; Louella Sedgewick '48, treasurer; Phil Good '49, recreation chairman; Jan Kidd '49, refreshment committee chairman; Dick Bemis '49 and Leslie Graham '47, executive committee.

Veterans Association

The fall of 1945 brought a new and powerful group to campus—the veterans. These men and women met early in the year to organize the Veterans Association. Through its high aims and concentrated activity, it became an influential medium for the expression of student opinion. The purpose of the organization, as stated in its constitution, is “to help all members obtain all possible assistance under the G.I. Bill and all other veteran’s legislature, and to be of assistance to each other in all problems common to the members of the Association.” To further this purpose, the veterans invited a Red Cross representative to speak to the group. She very cooperatively offered her help in solving any problems which might confront them.

During the year, the Veterans Association exerted much pressure toward relieving the housing situation on campus. The Veterans were constantly active in supporting the cause of the University of Massachusetts, attempting to arrange a meeting of alumni, administration, and students in order to discuss the possibilities of this plan. They also drew up a petition asking that nineteen new faculty members be appointed to the teaching staff, and that a new physics and a mathematics building be erected within the following year. They were responsible for the organization of an M.S.C. Improvement Committee.

The officers of the Association were Chet Mann ’46, commander; Gene Ratner ’47, executive officer; Howard Grout ’47, adjutant; Coolidge Wood ’48, financial adviser; Fred Pula ’48, sergeant-at-arms; Les Giles ’47, chaplain.

On December 7, Art Peck ’47 and Chet Mann ’46, as State representatives, attended a veterans’ conference in New York. The most urgent problems discussed were those of housing and the lack of effective counseling by college administrations.

LOOKING AHEAD IN SPORTS

The 1945-1946 season found Mass. State once again returning to inter-collegiate athletic activities. This first post war year was one filled with the usual thrills and breathtaking moments, but most of all, it was a year in which plans for the future were being molded. In both the educational and athletic departments, people were waking up to the changes that must be made if Massachusetts State College is ever to gain its just deserts.

While the long-needed cry for University status has permeated even the most distant corridors of the State House in Boston, the athletic department was making valuable use of the talented returning veterans. The athletic teams, composed mainly of ex-servicemen, completed fairly successful seasons, and the feeling of "laissez faire" that Mass. State students once had towards athletics disappeared. Enthusiasm ran high throughout the year as students gave their wholehearted support to almost every athletic venture. Perhaps most important of all, however, was the fact that defeats were no longer accepted with mere resignation.

Gradually this active interest has resulted in the beginning of a general reorganization of athletic activities on campus. One of the most important steps toward this reorganization was a proposal for the institution of physical education as a major course of study starting in the freshman year. In addition, attempts were made to interest the Administration in the possibilities of publicity as a means to an end. All these ideas represented a new realization of the fact that athletic success can be instrumental in helping Mass. State reach University status.

Let us hope these progressive ideas can be put into positive print!

Football was resumed at State this year after a two-year layoff, and it was more than welcome. Tommy Eck took over the duties of head coach, with Lorin "Red" Ball assisting him as backfield coach. The team was an inexperienced one with freshmen comprising most of the squad, but despite that disadvantage it came through with the better-than-average record of two victories, one defeat, and one deadlock.

Besides being a green aggregation, the State eleven was greatly-outweighed in all of its games. The Statesmen averaged only 165 pounds, whereas their opponents averaged at least 175 or 180 pounds in every instance. The fighting spirit of the MSC gridsters, however, was more than enough to offset their lack of experience and bulk.

The first of four games on State's limited schedule was played on the athletic field with a strong Brooklyn College team and resulted in the first and only defeat for State, 13-7. The visitors initiated the scoring in the first quarter by intercepting a State pass deep in State's territory. A few plays later Klein, a big 210-pound fullback, plunged over from the two-yard stripe. State went ahead in the third period when Ed Struzziero pushed over from the one-foot line after State had marched 78 yards. Snyder kicked the extra point to give State a 7-6 advantage. However, this lead was short-lived as the boys from Flatbush scored later in the same period on a pass.

For its second contest, the State team traveled far up into the wilds of Maine to engage and defeat the University of Maine by one touchdown, 6-0. The game was played in terrific winds, and State was helped by them in scoring the only touchdown.

The Maine boys came to State the following Saturday, and once again the Statesmen emerged victorious by the scant margin of one point, 14-13. Dick Lee, halfback, tallied both touchdowns for the Eckmen. Snyder kicked two successful conversions to provide the margin of victory.

On the following Saturday, State met its everlasting rival, Amherst College, at Pratt Field, and for the first time in a great many years, State was favored to win. The State boys outplayed the Lord Jeffs, but could emerge only with a 6-6 tie. The game was the most wide-open of the season with fumbles galore playing a large part in the deadlock. Both touchdowns were scored after recovered fumbles.

This was the last game, it is believed, to be played between State and Amherst. It marked the end of a football season well on its way back to normal.

State's court fortunes in the '45-'46 season were disappointing, as the Maroon and White dropped eight games in thirteen starts. The squad, at the beginning of the season was composed mainly of inexperienced players; but as the season progressed, returning veterans were responsible for the team's improved showing.

With a starting quintet of Lee and Kneeland in the forecourt, and Stanne at the pivot post, the Ball-coached lads put the team on firm ground, as they edged an inexperienced Norwich "five" 26-23.

Strengthened somewhat by this initial victory, the State hoop team played valiant ball against the tricky "engineers" from Worcester Tech, only to lose 44-31. Playing a return engagement at Worcester on the following Saturday, the Statesmen were unable to match Tech's superiority, as they were trounced 51-23. High scorer in both Worcester games was Dick Lee, who tallied twenty markers in both tilts.

In an attempt to hit the victory trail, the State quintet was forced to go all out to edge Amherst College 38-32. The return of Ray Kneeland and Tom Moore to the squad aided immeasurably in gaining this triumph. However the win was offset by the loss of forward Dick Lee, who broke his wrist in a scramble for the ball.

Traveling to Clinton, N. Y. for their next game with Hamilton College, the Statesmen won their second successive game of the week, 58-47. Bud Lansing was high scorer, as he racked up twenty-two points. Instrumental in this win was the fine play of Ray Kneeland, who proved a steady influence on the less experienced members of the team.

Returning from N. Y. by way of Williamstown, the Statesmen lost to a scrappy Williams team, 52-37. Top man for the evening was Tony Stanne, who flicked the nets for fourteen points.

In their second home appearance, the

State tops A.I.C. in finest performance of year

Maroon and White lost their fourth game of the season to a strong University of Vermont "five," 44-33. Tom Moore led the scoring for State with 12 points. Tony Stanne tallied 10 points, Ray Kneeland, 5, and Bud Lansing, 5.

The second semester brought an influx of basketball talent; and, as a result, an entire new team, with the exception of Kneeland and Stanne, faced B.U. on February 9. This new outfit had Myers and Richardson at forwards, White and Kneeland at guards, and Masterson at center. With only a short time for organizing, the lads were at somewhat of a disadvantage as they faced an extremely strong "Terrier" five. The game resulted in a win for Russ Peterson's team, 49-41. The new State quintet, however, gave evidence of real potentialities.

The surprising Statesmen pulled a stunning upset by edging out the strong A.I.C. quintet, 55-54. The entire team played immense basketball, bringing a terrific victory for the hard-playing five.

Continuing on the victory trail, the Statesmen eased their way through a return engagement with Hamilton College, 66-57. Red Richardson topped the scorers with twenty-one points, while Hy Myers tallied sixteen, Ray Kneeland, twelve and Masterson and White, seven apiece.

Playing their second game with A.I.C. within nine days, the Statesmen were unable to match the Aces' superior play, being trounced 78-35. The excellent playing of Ed Hickox's lads brought about State's worst defeat of the season.

With only two games left to complete the season, the Statesmen went all out to gain these twin encounters. However, both Clark and B. U. proved to be their undoing. Clark came up with a surprisingly tricky quintet as they edged the Statesmen in a close contest, 63-61. Two excellent Clark hoopmen, Basiul and Pontbriand, proved to be the margin of victory for their team, tallying twenty-seven and twenty-two points respectively.

In the final game of the season, the powerful B. U. quintet trounced the Statesmen 58-39. The "Terriers" just had too much savvy, as such performers as Williams and Gaudreault put on a sterling performance.

Although in retrospect, the season's record shows a low percentage of .385, there is satisfaction in the fact that a large nucleus of this past year's team will return next year more experienced and better able to turn in some fine performances.

• Track

Track came back to State this winter under the direction of Coach Derby. Most of the team was composed of inexperienced boys, but there were three track veterans back in the persons of Don Parker, middle-distance runner; George Bower and Saul Cohen, dashmen. With these three as nucleus, Coach Derby built an impressive aggregation.

In State's first meet of the season, the Derbymen really shone. Outmanned four to one, the State runners still managed to emerge victorious in the meet by a score of 34-25. In order to do this, State had to win six out of seven events, and it did. The MSC squad was so small in comparison with that of the Nutmeggers that State couldn't afford just trying for seconds and thirds, but had to go after first positions. Even though State had taken five out of the first six events, it had to win the relay in order to win the meet. It did just that. The relay team was composed of George Bower, Louie Clough, Bob Ryan, and Don Parker.

George Bower was really the star of the meet, winning the 35-yard dash and 300-yard run, and running a very good first leg in the relay; all of which gave State 11¼ points. Don Parker garnered 6¼ points by winning the 600 and running anchor in the relay; Bill Howes and Don Walker each amassed 5 points, the former by winning the mile, and the latter by taking first in the 35-yard hurdles; Louis Clough got 4½ points by taking second place in the 1000, and running on the relay team; Bob Ryan got 1¼ points for running on the relay team; and Saul Cohen got 1 marker for third place in the 35-yard dash.

Several mainstays of the '43 varsity team returned to play important roles in this season's baseball: Bob Ryan, George Bower, Tom Moore, Russ Clark, and Herman Barenboim.

• WAA

This year proved to be a very active one for the Women's Athletic Association. The officers of the Council were Jean Gould '46, president; Lois Bannister '46, vice-president; and Mary Ireland '46, secretary. The Council, which included the officers and the sports managers, met regularly to plan events for the year.

The fourth annual hockey game between the coeds and faculty was one of the highlights of the year; the score was 1-0 in favor of the coeds. The precedent established last year of mixed volleyball teams was continued successfully this year under the management of Sophie Thomas. Basketball tournaments, including interhouse and intersorority games, were run off by Edith Dover.

Mt. Holyoke students were guests of the association at a Play Day in February which featured the sports of bowling, swimming and skiing. Flo Schiff '48 was general chairman of this affair.

The managers of the various sports were Annette Heyman '47, badminton; Barbara Cole '47, archery; Dorothy Hurlock '46, skiing; Pauline Lambert '46, softball; Doris Anderson '47, speedball; Louise Sharp '46, dancing, and Nancy Davies '47, swimming.

• Cheerleaders

After a two-year absence, the familiar white sports sweater with the encircled maroon "M" on the sleeve reappeared on campus. As football and basketball games and college rallies became an important feature of the extracurricula student activities, it was essential that MSC have some peppy cheerleaders. Chet Mann '46, Jerry Swanson '46, Jean Gould '46, Ellie Swartz '47, Betty Gagne '47 and Fran White '47 were chosen to lead the spectators in organized cheers.

Their first appearance before the student body came the night of the football rally at the start of the season. The rally was held in the parking space near the Alumni Field; a huge bonfire was built and school spirit was whipped up by the cheerleaders as they led all the rally-goers in singing and cheering the traditional State songs and chants.

The cheerleaders led the torchlight parade from Q.T.V. down North Pleasant street to the steps of Stockbridge Hall. The occasion was to start the activities for the famous Amherst weekend, which included the football game with our oldest rivals.

In the spring Jane Sears '49, Lorraine Guertin '48, and Jean Bayles '48 were elected to the squad.
